RETURNED TO HER HOME.—Miss Lillie Rodgers, the young lady who was taken in charge by the police yesterday and held under orders from her relatives in Fredericksburg, left this city early this morning for her home. Her brother came here at 10:52 last night on the Richmond train, and proceeded to the station house and took charge of the young woman. The meeting between the brother and sister was affecting, and caused much sympathy to be expressed for both. The affair is the subject of much comment, the men who deliberately threw the young woman into the company in which she was found coming in for a large share of condemnation. The Washingtonian who Miss Rodgers asserts introduced her to Kate Smith at River View is said to be related to her, and his action is incomprehensible, as he must have been aware of the woman's reputation as a proprietress of a resort known not only in this city, but in Washington also. The young man who met her in this city Wednesday was regarded as equally culpable, especially the one who, Miss Rodgers alleges, took her to the barge. When it was remarked in these parties should be prosecuted she spoke very excitedly and was emphatic in declaring she wanted nothing done with them. It is said, however, that the young woman's friends will institute legal proceedings against all concerned in the matter—against the men who plotted the girl's downfall and the woman who harbored her. Miss Rodgers said that while an inmate of Kate Smith's house she roomed with a girl whose first name was Lillie, and that during forty-eight hours of her stay there she saw nothing to excite suspicion, but Friday morning she awoke to the fact that she was keeping company with a dissolute woman and made up her mind to leave the house. But aud alteram partem. Kate Smith has letters in her possession from Miss Rodgers which seriously compromise that young woman. All are dated in September, 1893, from which it would seem she had not met her hostess up to that time, although Miss Rodgers averred yesterday she had been introduced to her by a young man named Dryer, of Washington, at River View last summer. It seems that Miss Rodgers became acquainted in Fredericksburg with a female known as Madame Hirsch, who had at one time lived here, and began to correspond with Kate Smith, of whom she had heard through the madame. Some of the young woman's sentences are pregnant with meaning, and a sad confession is made. Her object, from her letters, appears to have been to come to this city, put up at Kate Smith's and allow her to see to it that she was learning the millinery business here. The first woman was probably her preceptor, and Miss Rodgers was given the name of a milliner who formerly lived here for whom she was to pretend she was working. Miss Rodgers in her letters desired Kate Smith to sign the milliner's name in her answers in order to deceive her people. Kate Smith says she never saw her until last Wednesday, when she came to her house alone. She also positively denies having been introduced to her at River View, and says the young woman received no company while at her house. There seems to be no doubt that Miss Rodgers, upon her arrival in this city, telegraphed to her parents that she had been married to a man named Smith from Chicago.

INDUSTRIALS IN COURT.—The members of the industrial army at Rosslyn were much incensed over the arrest of six of their number for begging on the streets of Washington, and when the result of the trials in the police court yesterday, dismissing the prisoners, was made known they regarded it as a victory. They will make the great test of the matter in the case of William Blatchman, a German, who was arrested Wednesday while demanding food from the proprietor of a provision store in Georgetown. This case has been continued until next Tuesday, when it will be called up in the police court. The men are so confident they are in the right that even if a conviction is secured they say they will not discontinue begging on the street. As things now appear in camp it is a survival of the fittest, and the man who can do the most rustling for food, as the army expression goes, is the man who fares best. The blackberry crop has played out, and there is not enough food in camp to feed fifty men, much less the 800 which are now stopping there.

The trial of the six members of the industrial army who were arrested as vagrants occurred yesterday in Judge Miller's court. Representatives of the army and Hudson did not appear to defend the men. The prisoners were thrown upon the mercy of the court, and Judge Miller dealt with them leniently. The comments of Judge Miller on the case were out of the ordinary and his sympathies appeared to be with the men. In his opinion the men had been misled by the leaders. "If you fellows are really in earnest for work," said he, "there is not a person in the country who would not be willing to help you along. This thing of turning the army loose in the city and terrorizing the women and children has got to be stopped, and I want this to be taken as a warning. Your leaders brought you here, and it is their duty to feed you. It is a pity that there is no law to force them to do so. If any more men of the army are brought before me for begging on the streets I will certainly have to commit them."

PERSONAL.—The family of Mr. Harry Kirk are spending the summer in Fauquier county.

Mrs. M. W. Pollard has gone to Accomac county on a visit.

Mr. Will Entwistle continues quite ill at his home on south Columbus street.

Mrs. John A. Field has gone to New Freedom on a visit.

A letter received in this city to-day stated that Rev. Carl Grammer, who is quite sick in Maryland, is improving.

Mrs. T. Marshall Jones and children have gone to Warrenton to spend the summer.

Miss Lizzie Murphy, of Westmoreland county, is visiting Mrs. Gilbert Cox, on Prince street.

Mr. T. Selden Taliferro, who at one time lived in this city but who is now Mayor of Green River, Wyo., is here on a short visit.

The Manassas Gazette says Mr. C. C. Carlin, postmaster of Alexandria, and Col. S. G. Brent visited this town this week and were the guests of Hon. E. E. Meredith.

THE SOUTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY.—Washington will be made the headquarters of the Southern Railway Company, the successor of the Richmond Terminal system, of which Mr. Samuel Spencer is now the president. The new plan provides for two divisions—the eastern, comprising the Richmond and Danville roads, and the western, the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia lines. There can be no doubt that the new system will prove of great importance to the South, and will give it a railway service equal to that of any other section of the country. The property is valuable, and will be improved in many ways. The plans are in the hands of men of ability and wide experience. They have been carefully considered, and will be carried out in such a way as to make the company one of the strongest of its kind, and, at the same time, give the people the benefit of an excellent railway service.

STEAMBOAT NOTES.—The steamer Columbia resumed her place on the ferry line this morning, her air pump which was broken on Wednesday having been repaired. The work was done by Alexandria mechanics, and was well done. While the steamer was off the line a number of minor repairs were made and a general overhauling given her.

The old steamer City of Washington was hauled up on the ways at the ship yard to-day. On Tuesday she will be towed to Baltimore.

The steamer Harry Loder of the Farmington line was inspected to-day by government inspectors and was subsequently hauled out on the small ways at the shipyard for repairs.

FINED FOR CONTEMPT.—"That's mean," exclaimed a surly negro of 70 years who had been fined $2 in the Police Court this morning for disorderly conduct. He was hustled back into the dock and Mayor Strauss added $10 more to his assessment for contempt of court. Five darkeys had been arrested about three o'clock this morning while asleep in the streets in the northern part of the city. Previous to their arrest they had been annoying Mr. Patrick Dillon by yelling at him and his assistants while they were engaged in their nocturnal calling, and in doing so had managed to keep people in the neighborhood awake. They were fined $2 each, and if they fail to pay their fines they will be sent to the chain gang.

POLICE COURT.—Major Strauss presiding.—The following cases were disposed of this morning:

Thomas Fairall, James Hill, Harry Shirley, Samuel Stewart and Thomas Blandheim, arrested by officers Ferguson, Smith, Griffin and Howson for disorderly conduct, were fined $2 each.

Thomas Fairall, colored, for contempt of court, was fined $10.

Night Report.—Last night was clear and warm. Five prisoners were at the station house.

ROBBERIES.—The cellar of the residence of Mr. W. J. Plaskett, on the business here. The first woman was probably her preceptor, and Miss Rodgers was given the name of a milliner who formerly lived here for whom she was to pretend she was working.

Miss Rodgers in her letters desired Kate Smith to sign the milliner's name in her answers in order to deceive her people. Kate Smith says she never saw her until last Wednesday, when she came to her house alone. She also positively denies having been introduced to her at River View, and says the young woman received no company while at her house. There seems to be no doubt that Miss Rodgers, upon her arrival in this city, telegraphed to her parents that she had been married to a man named Smith from Chicago.

THE ELECTRIC RAILWAY.—The work of extending the electric railway westward to the city line is being rapidly pressed. The ties have been laid on Payne street, between Cameron and King, and by to-night the work of grading on King from Payne to the city line will have been finished. When this work is done the construction of the Royal street line will be commenced.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

No business was transacted in the Corporation Court to-day.

Numbers of fire shad are still being caught in the river just below this city.

The fire wardens paid $175 for the horse they recently purchased for the Hydrantion company.

Considerable complaint is being made against boys swimming in the river in front of the city minus their clothes before dark.

The arrangements for remodeling St. Mary's Church in this city are nearly completed and work will be commenced in a month or so.

The Mayor has given orders to the police to report all persons who are harboring or tolerating unlicensed dogs about their premises.

The electric cars are still well patronized on their evening trips to Riverside Park. It is a delightful ride and the round trip is made in less than an hour.

The excursion to be given by the Young Men's Sodality Lyceum on Monday, July 30, promises to be a success. A good time is promised to all who attend.

Mr. W. M. Smith, Superintendent of the Alms House, says the report that two young women escaped from that institution on Thursday night is incorrect.
